Meet Our Family Medicine Residents

Nicole Odlum, DO Class of 2024

Hello! My name is Nicole Odlum. I grew up in Mission Viejo, California. I received a Bachelor of Science degree in Biochemistry from Loyola Marymount University and attended Pacific Northwest University for medical school. I completed my medical school rotations in Great Falls, MT. Before beginning medical school, I participated in 2 years of post-graduate service, one in Baltimore, Maryland and the second in Phoenix, Arizona. Both of these experiences had great influence on my desire to pursue family medicine.

I chose Deaconess because it is an unopposed program with a diverse patient population and provides full spectrum and procedural training. Everyone I met during my virtual interview was incredibly welcoming and I could already feel that this program was right for me. I am excited to live in the Midwest for the first time!

Some of my hobbies outside of medicine include playing badminton, reading, yoga, hiking, and exploring new cities.
