Meet Our Family Medicine Residents

Tiara Moore, MD Class of 2029

ABOUT ME

Hi! My name is Tiara Moore. I grew up in Morganfield, Kentucky, a small rural town where community and faith played a central role in my upbringing. I was raised in the church, with my grandfather serving as a pastor, which helped shape my values of service, compassion, and connection with others. These values ultimately guided me towards medicine. I attended Western Kentucky University for college before completing medical school at University of Kentucky College of Medicine in Bowling Green, Kentucky. Medical school strengthened my resilience and deepened my appreciation for patient care, especially how much medicine extends beyond diagnosis and treatment into everyday moments of reassurance and support.

WHY CHOOSE DEACONESS?

I am excited to be joining Deaconess Family Medicine Residency in Evansville because of its strong unopposed training environment, broad clinical exposure, and the genuine, supportive culture I experienced during my interview.

My interest in Family Medicine solidified during my third-year rotations, where I was drawn to the continuity of care, variety of practice, and the ability to build long-term relationships with patients and families. I am especially interested in outpatient medicine, with a focus on women's health and rural care.

HOBBIES/INTERESTS

Outside of medicine, I enjoy reading, traveling, and spending time with family.
